MA HIWASH NAKS KA WATU TIMASH HISUKUATIPASWISHA

LAPWAI:

1840.

Key to the NEZ-PERCES Alphabet.

A pronounced as a, o, and u, in the following words: — father, fall, man, what, not and hut.
E pronounced as a in hate and e in met.
I " as e in we, i pin and y in you.
O " as o in note
U " as u in bull, oo in moon.

H, K, L, M, N, P, S, T, W pronounced as in English.

AI " as i in time.
AU " as ou in south.
IU " as ew in new.

B D F G R V Z used only in foreign words.

The consonants are called by the same names as in English, except w which is called we.

H at the end of a word is generally forcibly aspirated; but when the next word begins with a vowel, it changes into k.

The combination sh is used the same as in English.

N changes into l at the pleasure of the speaker. It is, however, seldom done in grave conversation, except by those speaking the lower dialects.

G has always its hard sound, as in August.

IU is sometimes pronounced as ew, but never except when immediately preceded by one or more consonants, as hiut-saia.
